No charges yet in baby's 'heroin intoxication' death

The death of an 11-month-old boy in July has been ruled a homicide resulting from "acute heroin intoxication," according to the Delaware County Medical Examiner's Office.

Niccolo Varner, of Collingdale, died July 15 at Mercy Fitzgerald Hospital. Police said they responded to the family's home and found medics performing CPR on the boy. He died at 8:40 a.m., according to reports, about 16 minutes after his mother called for help.

"Babies don't just die. He was a very healthy baby."
CHRISTINE RIVERO, MOTHER

Medical Examiner Frederic Hellman released the official findings this week. No charges have been filed in the case, but Delaware County prosecutors said the investigation is ongoing.

Authorities initially detained Varner's mother, Christine Rivero, to question her about alleged possession of drug paraphernalia and her son's death. At the time of the incident, Varner was home with his parents, a sibling and a family friend, police said.

His mother told 6ABC at the time of his death in the summer that the boy was "a good kid" and "a very healthy baby."

"When I went to pick him up, his chest was wet and his chest was blue. So I grabbed him out and started screaming for my husband," she said, according to a report on 6ABC.com on Thursday. "Babies don't just die. He was a very healthy baby. He was running around playing yesterday. having fun." SOLOMON D. LEACH

Confessions of a weatherman

John Bolaris made his debut in Metro this week, reintroducing himself to Philadelphians who for years watched his weather forecasts on TV. Next Monday, he goes deeper into the mind of a meteorologist. It reads like "Confessions of a Weatherman" — thoughts of a man who, while unemployed, still craved to help people. In upcoming columns, he'll be answering reader's questions. Send them to letters@metro.us and @MetroPhilly.

Former city cop charged with alleged luring

ROXBOROUGH. A 72-year-old man has been charged in connection with an alleged attempted luring of an 8-year-old girl, police said.

The incident occurred Oct. 17 on the 7000 block of Voigt Road. Authorities said the girl reported walking down the street when a man approached her and tried to lure her into his vehicle. Through an investigation, the suspect was identified as Leo Haley, of the 4300 block of Lauriston Street.

Haley was arrested Thursday and charged with unlawful restraint, terroristic threats and related charges. METRO

Kerfuffle over provisional ballots in Philly

PHILADELPHIA. The Committee of Seventy, the good-government group that monitors elections, is looking for registered voters who were forced to cast provisional ballots when their names were not in the poll book. The group said it received numerous complaints from voters across the city. Seventy said it would forward the names of provisional voters to the city commissioners, who are expected to look into the problem. METRO

'Joe Cool' hawks gin in Philly, but not interested in small talk

- Arguably greatest quarterback in NFL history appeared at liquor store
- Our writer hoped to talk to Montana, but wouldn't pony up $30 for bottle

Joe Montana was in town Thursday night signing bottles at the PLCB store at 12th and Chestnut streets. The Super Bowl-winning quarterback owns Aviation Gin, which bills itself as the cocktail-inspired American gin.

Obviously, having grown up worshipping at the Joe Montana altar, I was there. Unfortunately for me, the event ran like an assembly line.

Montana strutted out, posed 30 seconds for the cameras, then sat down and inked bottles of his hooch. Around 150 people crammed inside the store, all wide-eyed, as they waited to embrace their hero. I decided not to jump in line, instead observing from the press area.

Montana was cordial and smiled, but instructed his fans — many armed with No. 16 jerseys and 49ers memorabilia — that he was only signing bottles of Aviation.

When one man on crutches tried to sit next to Montana for a picture, he was told he must stay on the other side of the table. He got his photo, then limped away.

All in all, it was what I've come to expect from these celebrity meet-and-greets. (Terrell Owens did it the same way back in 2004 when he was promoting his book).

▶ Montana, who won four Super Bowls, is from western Pennsylvania. He appeared at 12th and Chestnut streets.

BERARD LABMA/METRO

Still, it was slightly disappointing — especially for someone who witnessed first-hand the epic, fourth-quarter comeback he orchestrated against the Eagles at the Vet in 1989 — not to have been able to talk with the man that helped nurture my love for football.

Perhaps, another time. Or, if Montana's public relations staff is reading this, drop me an e-mail.

Montana's career

A look back at Montana's first career, before he became a gin mill owner:

- Won three Super Bowl MVPs in four Super Bowl victories and tossed 11 touchdowns to zero interceptions on the biggest stage
- Threw for 40,551 yards during his 14 seasons (not counting 1991, when he didn't play any games, and 1992, when he only played a portion of one game)
- Started the 1977 college season as Notre Dame University's third-string quarterback. In the third game of the season, he came in during the third quarter after the first two quarterbacks' inefficiency and injury to lead the Fighting Irish to a comeback victory.
- Born in New Eagle, Washington County, in western Pennsylvania, he then grew up in the nearby city of Monongahela, a coal-mining town about 25 miles south of Pittsburgh.

Casino mogul Wynn wants action again

GETTY IMAGES

Casino magnate Steve Wynn apparently wants a second shot at a Philadelphia casino.

The gaming mogul and head of Las Vegas-based Wynn Resorts is proposing a casino and hotel on a large parcel in Fishtown, just minutes away from SugarHouse Casino, the city's only casino, Wynn confirmed to the Inquirer. He plans to submit an application to the state Gaming Control Board for the city's second casino license by the Nov. 15 deadline.

Wynn has an option for about 60 acres of waterfront land on North Beach Street owned by builder James Anderson, according to the report. The project would include a 150,000-square-foot casino with 900 to 1,000 slot machines and 100 table games. It would also feature a 300-room hotel called Wynn Philadelphia that would resemble its Encore hotel in Macau.

"It's such a perfect site," Wynn said. "It allows for the kind of growth and the creation of a destination resort that these local casinos haven't done before."

According to the Inquirer, Wynn will submit a local impact report to the city Commerce Department today, a requirement of the application.

This would be Wynn's second attempt at a Philadelphia gaming hall. In 2010, he stepped in to help revive the stalled Foxwoods project, claiming to build "the cutest little casino you've ever seen." Two months later, he abruptly pulled out, surprising investors.

SOLOMON D. LEACH

Others all in

Two other groups have already submitted applications for the city's second casino.

- Developer Bart Blatstein has proposed a casino and resort on North Broad Street.
- Greenwood Gaming and Entertainment Inc., the operator of Bensalem's Parx Casino, is partnering with The Cordish Company on a proposal for building near the South Philadelphia Sports Complex.

▶ The Mayans: Victims of climate change?

PSU scientists suggest reason for Mayan vanishing

The mystery of the ancient Mayan downfall might be solved by a rock formation that suggests climate change could have led to the civilization's demise.

Researchers from Pennsylvania State University traced a climate trail recorded in a 2,000-year-old stalagmite found in a cave in Belize, concluding that prolonged periods of drought corresponded with the disintegration of the Mayan political system. The findings are published today in the journal Science.

A drying period that occurred over four centuries, punctuated by droughts, appear to correspond with Mayan records showing an increasing number of wars being fought in this period, and eventually larger cities gave way to smaller settlements, Kennett said. BLOOMBERG

Warm weather to return by next week

Philly 2, Mother Nature 0.

While a nor'easter dumped 4 to 8 inches of snow from New Jersey to Massachusetts on Wednesday, it left barely a mark in Philadelphia.

That's similar to Hurricane Sandy, which ravaged areas south, east and north of the city but hardly went noticed in Philly.

And now, warm weather is on the way.

Temperatures may reach the low 60s starting next week, which will help melt any snow and ice, said Lauren Nash, a meteorologist with the National Weather Service in Upton, New York. BLOOMBERG

Pentagon: Warplanes from Iran fired upon US drone over Gulf

GETTY IMAGES

▶ The incident was another reminder of tensions with Iran.

Iranian warplanes fired at an unarmed U.S. drone in international airspace last week but did not hit the aircraft, the Pentagon said on Thursday, an unprecedented incident that triggered a sharp warning to Tehran through diplomatic channels.

The Pentagon said the Nov. 1 intercept appeared to be the first time Tehran has fired at an unmanned American aircraft, in this case an MQ-1 "Predator."

According to details provided by the Pentagon, two Iranian SU-25 "Frogfoot" aircraft intercepted the American drone at about 4:50 a.m. ET as it conducted a routine, but classified, surveillance mission about 16 nautical miles off the Iranian coast.

Little said the aircraft fired multiple rounds at the drone and followed it for at least several miles as it moved farther away from Iranian airspace.

"We believe that they fired at least twice and made at least two passes," he said.

International airspace begins after 12 nautical miles and Little stressed that at no point did the drone enter Iranian airspace.

The United States sent Iran a warning through diplomatic channels about the Nov. 1 intercept, saying it would defend its military assets and would keep sending aircraft on such surveillance operations. REUTERS

Obama to visit Myanmar

President Barack Obama will visit Myanmar this month and meet both its president and its iconic opposition leader, marking a new milestone in U.S. efforts to promote democratic reforms in the once-isolated Southeast Asian country.

Obama will travel to Myanmar as part of a Nov. 17-20 tour of Southeast Asia that will include stops in Thailand and Cambodia, the White House said on Thursday as it confirmed details of his first international trip since voters gave him a second term.

The visit to Myanmar, the first by a sitting U.S. president, will give Obama a chance to hold talks with President Thein Sein and Nobel Peace Prize laureate Aung San Suu Kyi to encourage the country's "ongoing democratic transition," White House spokesman Jay Carney said. REUTERS

McDonald's posts first sales drop in nine years

McDonald's Corp. reported a global 1.8 percent drop in sales at established restaurants for October — its first monthly drop since March 2003 — sending its shares to a year low and presenting big challenges to the new CEO. McDonald's is likely to answer the challenge with stepped-up promotions in response to resurgent rivals such as Burger King Worldwide Inc., Wendy's Co., and Yum Brands Inc.'s Taco Bell, analysts said.

McDonald's for years has set the bar for growth ever higher by outpacing rivals and turning in strong sales despite modest consumer spending around the world. REUTERS

Giffords' husband blasts gun lobby as Loughner sentenced

Gabrielle Giffords stood in federal court to face her would-be assassin on Thursday moments before he was sentenced to life in prison for killing six people and wounding 13 others, including Giffords, last year.

Jared Loughner, 24, a college dropout with a history of psychiatric disorders, received seven consecutive life terms plus 140 years in prison, without the possibility of parole, under a plea deal with prosecutors that spares him the death penalty.

We put our energy into getting everything up and running for you again.

Unprecedented and historic, Hurricane Sandy's fierce wrath left damage and destruction in her wake and more than 9 million utility customers along the east coast without electricity. In our area, whipping 80 mph winds and drenching rains caused power outages for 850,000 PECO customers – nearly half of all the homes and businesses we serve. This was the worst storm in our company history. We mobilized an army of more than 4,700 PECO crews, contractors and employees from our sister utilities Baltimore-based BGE and Chicago-based ComEd, and other utilities as far away as Tennessee, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Maryland and Florida. For more than a week these crews have worked shoulder-to-shoulder, around-the-clock, to restore power as safely and quickly as possible.

We'd like to thank everyone who jumped into action – our employees and especially our local emergency responders whose assistance, as always, has been vital. And most importantly we'd like to thank you for your patience and understanding while we weathered this massive storm together.

Director Sam Mendes on missteps of the Bond franchise

"The thing about Bond for me is that there was a point around 'Moonraker' where it lost some of its thriller roots," Mendes says. "He almost ... had no journey at all. I'm being unfair to some of the movies in between, but I felt like in 'Casino Royale,' Bond was back at the center of the movie. He actually had a journey, he had some emotional stake. So to try to find that kind of personal weight in the center of the movie was really important."

Daniel Craig is back as Bond in 'Skyfall' But he doesn't like running, isn't impressed by gadgets and refers to stunts as 'bulls— boxing'

A RELUCTANT HERO

James Bond: skilled assassin, notorious ladies' man and ... professional kvetch? It seems that way when we meet Daniel Craig, star of the new "Skyfall."

In the 23rd Bond adventure, directed by Sam Mendes ("American Beauty"), Bond hits Macau and Shanghai and battles a villain (Javier Bardem) who's tech-savvy and dangerously flirtatious. Meanwhile, MI6 boss M (Judi Dench) is under threat in an exploding London.

Mixing old-school Bond theatrics with a new-school look, this sounds like fun — right, Daniel?

"I had to do a lot of running in this movie, which I hate," Craig says, grimacing. "I end up doing a day's filming which on paper should look fairly easy. I don't have any dialogue. It says, 'Bond goes from to A to B, then he goes from B to C.' But he goes from A to B at a lick, he runs down the stairs, he runs up the stairs, and we have to do 10 takes at a time, so by the end of it I'm just [gasping]."

Bond on Bond

So what makes Daniel Craig happy? Really, truly happy? Being Bond. Being an icon.

"I suppose I was concerned about being typecast," he says, "but when you weigh it up it's not a bad thing to be typecast as James Bond, is it really?" He laughs, finally. "I can say that now — it's easier now."

"Bond," he summarizes, "doesn't usually walk through a room."

No doubt. "Skyfall" is filled with adventure, including an underwater fight sequence that Craig enjoyed — between takes. "Nobody can find you when you're underwater," he says. "When we're not shooting, I swim to the bottom — it's a huge, great big tank at Pinewood [Studios, in the U.K.], about 30 feet deep. And I just sink to the bottom, put the respirator in and hide. And it's so great. Sometimes I fall asleep as well. And then you hear a voice saying, 'Where's Daniel?'"

So action sequences aren't Craig's cup of tea. "I'm not a fighter," either, he adds. "I pretend to be one, but it's called bulls— boxing," he says of the stunt work. Perhaps he's more interested in another aspect of a Bond movie that fans eagerly anticipate: the new gadgetry. Q (played by Ben Whishaw) is reintroduced in this film, and the villain (Javier Bardem) is into computers. Surely, Craig can relate?

Nope. "People talk about gadgets all the time, but if you look at the original gadgets ... Bond took out a box, stuck it on a door and pressed a button and a red light came on," he says. "That's kind of sexy. It did something. But to have Bond at a computer, on a screen, I think is f—ing boring."

WELLS FARGO CENTER

It's Bond ... again

This solid 007 offering succeeds at bringing out the best in the franchise, but some of the conventions of Bond are beginning to seem dated and tiresome

There are certain things that must always be preserved if one is to make a James Bond film. The shortlist includes many drinks thoughtfully sipped, a couple exotic and conflicted women, at least one gadget and three non-Western locations. There's also the occasional cheeky one-liner and a steamy shower sequence. These are the things that define the character and the franchise. Changing those elements would be turning it into something it's not.

That's why we can't really begrudge the continued presence of all of these elements in each and every film. But as a result of their inclusion, it's doubtful director Sam Mendes' vision of 007 would ever be referred to as "refreshing." And considering author Ian Fleming's character is considered a British national treasure, a complete reimagining of Bond would be unthinkable.

If you go

'Skyfall'
Director: Sam Mendes
Cast: Daniel Craig, Javier Bardem, Judi Dench
Rating: PG-13
Grade: ●●●○○

But Mendes does his best to put a new sheen on Daniel Craig's character. We find our hero broken down, weak and bitter. Both he and M (Judi Dench) are beginning to be seen as dinosaurs in their own organization, outmoded by hackers like the evil Silva (Javier Bardem) who effortlessly invades their fortress. Silva is ruthless, flamboyant and flirtatious. He's easily the most enjoyable aspect of the film — with Bardem disappearing into the role and inviting humor into what would otherwise be stale territory.

Taken at face value, however, this is a good movie. The action sequences are heart-stopping. Craig effectively portrays a man mourning the loss of some of his faculties. And Dench, well, you know how that diva rolls. "Skyfall" is a quality product. It's only that some of us would like to try a new brand.

Festival brings VHS back from the dead

With DVD having long since driven a stake through the heart of the late and only occasionally lamented VHS format, thrift stores and yard sales are now teeming with stacks of unwanted videotapes. Those discard piles are treasure troves for Cinedelphia.com founder and PhilaMOCA director Eric Bresler, who will debut his VHS found-footage performance outlet, Video Pirates, Friday night. "Growing up in the '80s and '90s, VHS was my generation's format," Bresler says. "I've always had a collector's mentality and an appreciation for the bizarre, and that carried over well to VHS collecting."

Culled and edited from a collection of more than a thousand tapes, the inaugural Video Pirates program is a grab bag that includes pieces on the Beanie Babies and Pogs fads, bizarre dog-training videos and the story of a Japanese comedian who lived in a single room for 15 months, among other oddities. "I realized that a lot of this VHS stuff would be lost for all time," Bresler says. "I wanted to make this about more than just simple mockery. Some of these things easily lend themselves to mockery at times, but it's also about exploring past trends and topics and preserving them."

▶ For better or for worse, Eric Bresler and the Video Pirates rescued these kids from VHS extinction.

The heart of the story

SPENCER RITENOUR

▶ Catch "The Adam Wade Family Hour" Friday and Saturday (9-10 p.m.) at the Christ Church Neighborhood House. For tickets to the show and his storytelling workshop on Saturday, visit www.firstpersonarts.org.

Storyteller Adam Wade brings his funny, touching new show to the First Person Arts Festival

Adam Wade didn't get into storytelling for the glory. When he started out, there were no quiet salons full of attentive audiences, no podcasts or radio programs devoted to the introspective genre. And he didn't get onstage because he's a natural performer — he's nervous, always has been, and it still shows. "Growing up, most people wanted to be baseball players or firemen. For me, I guess I just wanted to connect with people," says Wade, 37. "After years of being a geek in high school, then going to a small college with these frat guys, no one was paying attention to me. And it's not like I wanted to get the girl — I just thought that I might have something to offer, and that there were probably people out there like me."

It turns out that there were plenty. Endearingly awkward and artfully honest, his tales of growing up in New Hampshire and navigating adulthood in New York City with slightly more finesse have a universal, familiar appeal. Instinctively, you want to root for this guy — you want him to get the girl, you want him to get whatever else it is he's after — and if you're feeling particularly generous toward yourself, you'll recognize something in his wise but wide-eyed charm.

"The thing that works for me is being me up there," says Wade, a regular winner at NYC's The Moth Story Slam. "There have been nights that I've done very well with an audience, and then post-mortem on the subway I think, OK, well it wasn't me — and it doesn't feel very satisfying."

After selling out two First Person Arts Festival performances last year, Wade is back in Philly this weekend with "The Adam Wade Family Hour." Like his previous shows, it mixes the laugh-out-loud with more subtle moments. "A lot of my stories end sad, and I used to really wonder, should I be getting big laughs?" admits Wade. "There's just so much thrown at people, so much entertainment stimuli, but sometimes they'll remember this guy with the glasses, and his story, and for me this means it's working — it's the ultimate compliment."

Metro's Dorothy Robinson shares her take on the world of gossip @dorothyatmetro dorothy.robinson@metro.us

Cyrus: I'm only having one marriage (and one divorce)

Miley Cyrus went on "The Ellen DeGeneres Show" to clear up a few things regarding that whole "I'm having three marriages" rumor (apparently spread by father Billy Ray) that's been hitting the Interwebs.

"There is some rumor going around that I'm having, like, 47 weddings. I'm not," Miley told Ellen on Thursday. "I'm having one wedding. That's my day and whatever I want on that day will be about me and that moment."

But that doesn't mean the wedding will be anytime soon, as the 19-year-old is working on her career. "I'm so focused on my record. ... I kind of don't want to be in between touring and trying to plan all that, because I didn't really realize until I got a wedding planning book what you have to decide on," she said. "Like, I don't care what color the napkins are, to be honest. I really don't care. So it's a lot of weird detail. I don't want to be doing too much and be crazy."

Miley will only decide on one dress — and it's hopefully not one of these.

"There is some rumor going around that I'm having, like, 47 weddings. I'm not."
MILEY THRICE-MARRIED CYRUS

Smart girl: Hosting three wedding sounds like a logistical nightmare. Does that mean guests have to give her three presents? Do they have to do the Electric Slide three times? And does it mean she would (inevitably) have to have three divorces?

IN HER WILDEST DREAMS

Philly artist Meg Lemieur's new book of illustrations is inspired by the dreams — and nightmares — that shaped her life

When Meg Lemieur was just 12 years old, she was plagued with horrific, blood-curdling nightmares.

"Somebody suggested writing them down to better understand what was happening in them," she explains, while sitting in a Kensington cafe. "Just allowing myself to contemplate what was happening on the subconscious level helped me work on how I was feeling about my real life."

Journaling proved habit-forming; Lemieur now has piles of notebooks describing hundreds of somnolent adventures. Her new self-published book of illustrations, "And Then I Woke Up," explores six of her most vivid R.E.M. narratives. In addition to the finished product, Friday's book release will feature her early in-progress sketches, detailing the months of trial and error involved with getting her dreams down on paper.

"In college I thought I wanted to illustrate fables, but at some point I realized that within my dreams I had my own original stories that are interesting in their own right," says Lemieur. "I chose these six particular dreams because they helped shape the way I viewed my life. So they're my own personal fables in a way, because they all have a pretty instructive moral at their core."

During the past six years, Lemieur has worked professionally as an illustrator and graphic designer, creating everything from velvet coloring posters to paper doll sets. But "And Then I Woke Up" has been a labor of love — a chance to blend her professional skills with her philosophical passions.

The book comes with a blank section for readers to try their hand at introspective sketching. "Recording your dreams can definitely be fruitful. You can interact with yourself as if you're your own muse — illustrating things that are a part of you, but not something you conjured up in your conscious thoughts," she says. "It's an opportunity to take a completely different perspective on yourself."

If you go

- Stop by the "And Then I Woke Up" book release party on Friday, 7-8:30 p.m., at F&N Gallery (2007 Frankford Ave.)
- "And Then I Woke Up" is available now at www.paperstampede.com.

USED CARS $ as low as 999

FRED BEANS REPEATS HISTORIC USED CAR SALE

Doylestown, PA – Fred Beans, CEO and Founder of the Fred Beans Automotive Group located in Doylestown PA, has announced a ONE DAY SALE on Saturday, November 10th at 9:00 AM, where pre-owned vehicles will be sold for as low as $999. This sale is being held due to overwhelming public demand.

Cars will be clearly marked, so come early for the best selection. This is a ONE DAY ONLY sale designed to get the local community driving again.

Fred Beans' pre-owned inventory levels need to be reduced to make room for shipments of new models arriving daily. As a result, all 7 Fred Beans Doylestown locations are selling these overstocked pre-owned vehicles to the public at drastic discounts in an attempt to clear excess inventory.

In addition to this huge variety of pre-owned vehicles, the Fred Beans Family of Dealerships in Doylestown features new Ford, Lincoln, Mitsubishi, Dodge, Chrysler, Jeep, Hyundai, Nissan, Subaru, Chevrolet, Cadillac, Buick, GMC, and Saab vehicles.

Fred Beans believes reviving the economy starts at home, and changing things locally will lead to changing things nationally.

In addition to the Fred Beans Family of Dealerships' extra inventory, additional vehicles have been acquired at incredible prices from various banks, repossession companies, auto auctions, credit unions, lease companies, and rental companies for this sale.

The sale will make pre-owned vehicles available for as low as $999, prices not normally offered to the general public. According to Fred Beans, "We want to give our customers a reason to believe in the local economy again. Someone has to look out for their best interests."

Customers are encouraged to arrive and register by 8:15AM to inspect the entire inventory and find the car that is right for them. Every vehicle will be cleaned, detailed, and fully prepared for instant delivery. On the evening of November 9th after close of business, Mr. Beans and his team will mark the special sale price on each and every vehicle.

Because Fred Beans' customers are feeling the credit crunch right now, the Fred Beans Automotive Group has given the dealerships' financing managers the resources necessary to get most customers' credit approved on the spot.

The Fred Beans Family of Dealerships has $10,000,000 in lending power, the result of over 50 years of strong relationships with the area's leading lenders. This means that customers with "less than perfect" credit history can have their credit approved and drive a quality pre-owned car, truck, or SUV home by lunchtime on Saturday.

Even if a customer's credit report shows a bankruptcy, divorce, tax lien, slow payment history, missed payment, or repossession, or if a customer is a first time buyer, Fred Beans may get them approved.

This special ONE DAY ONLY sale will be held at all 7 Fred Beans Doylestown locations this Saturday, November 10th, at 9:00AM.

Pre-owned vehicles will be sold for as low as $999. Customers are encouraged to arrive and register by 8:15AM for the start of inspection. Incredible sale prices, starting as low as $999, will be posted no later than 8:00AM. All vehicles will be sold on a first come, first serve basis. The Fred Beans Family of Dealerships is expecting a high volume of customers for this sale, so be sure to reserve your spot early.

Customers wishing to trade in a vehicle are asked to bring their title or payment book for immediate delivery. Fred Beans will even pay off your trade-in in full, no matter how much you still owe on it.

Most of these surplus pre-owned vehicles will get sent directly to auto auctions for liquidation. So, if anyone has been thinking about purchasing a good, clean, dependable pre-owned car, truck, van or sport utility vehicle, do not miss this special ONE DAY ONLY sale.

Courtesy transportation available from all local airports, train stations and bus depots.

For more information about this sale and directions to our locations please visit us online at www.999sale.com or call 1-866-920-9612

The newly expanded Federal Donuts proves that fried chicken has a breakfast soul mate ◗ Chef Michael Solomonov on the quirky concept and Philly food

Hot chef

To say that you've been living under a rock if you haven't yet heard of Federal Donuts would be an understatement. By now, thanks to a flurry of national press, even your West Coast great aunt knows about their menu of fancy donuts, fried chicken and cowboy-strength coffee. Now that their new Center City location is up and running, we caught up with Michael Solomonov, one of the brains behind the now classic fried combo.

Why do you think Federal Donuts has taken off?
I'm not sure. Everybody likes chicken and donuts, especially awesome donuts. I think the style of fried chicken that we do is unique to Philly. And the coffee is utterly specific. No cappuccinos here, just coffee in a cup. It's the attention to detail that makes it special.

Your donuts are one of the reasons that named Philly an exciting food town. Who else is helping?
People get pissed off about BYOB places because they can pop up so quickly. I think the BYOB fuels a lot of food scene, allows people to open up a restaurant quickly. There's a lot of talent coming from a lot of young people.

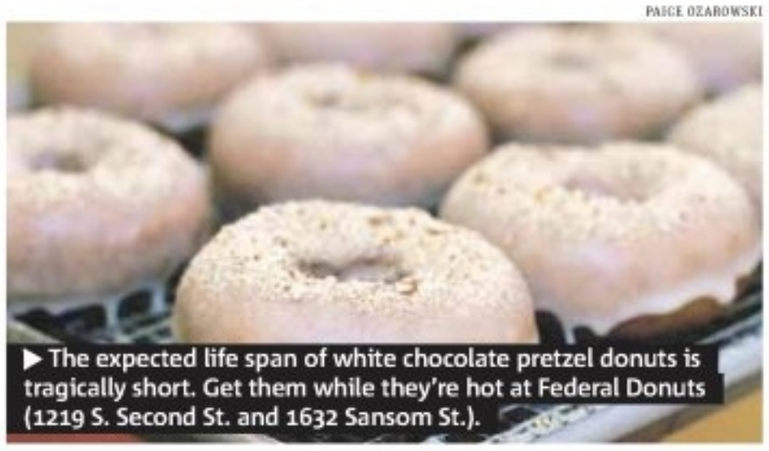
Federal Donuts closes early — where are you going after work?
Usually either Zahav or Tai Lake. Everyone here goes to the Khyber, too.

Now that you've opened the new Federal Donuts location, what's next? Please say delivery!
Right now we're just busy trying to stay focused on making things great and keeping them great.

We know you're busy with Citron and Rose, opening on the Main Line next month. Can you give us a taste?

It's European Jewish cuisine. There's great kosher cuisine out there but not enough.

PAIGE OZAROWSKI



▶ The expected life span of white chocolate pretzel donuts is tragically short. Get them while they're hot at Federal Donuts (1219 S. Second St. and 1632 Sansom St.).

Three more surprisingly sweet combos

Chicken and donuts, you have company:

1 Earl Grey and Sriracha
Little Baby's Ice Cream flirts with the classics (birch beer vanilla, never change), but it's the more unexpected combos that have earned it a foodie following. The Earl Grey Sriracha is a surprising standout in a freezer case that also includes cantaloupe creamsicle, balsamic banana and cardamom caramel.

2 Pop Rocks and Champagne
We don't know the logic behind Raven Lounge's irresistible Champagne and Pop Rocks cocktail, but we do like the sound of candy exploding in bubbly. As for the tingling in your nose, well, that's an acquired taste.

3 Old Bay and Cinnamon
For their sweet potato fries, Chickie's & Pete's swaps out their trademark melted American cheese dip for a side of warm cinnamon maple sauce.

Shaken, not stirred

Where would Bond drink?

Daniel Craig may throw back a Heineken in "Skyfall," but it's safe to say that James Bond is still a martini man after he cashes that product placement check. Here's where we'd send 007 in Philly:

GETTY IMAGES

▶ You wouldn't catch Roger Moore with a Heineken.

Southwark
701 S. Fourth St.
Like a man in a suit who knows how to duel, Southwark is timeless. Classy enough for Bond with a touch of that South Philly members-only feel, you know the bartenders at this Queen Village gem are keeping their share of secrets.

Continental Martini Bar
Second and Market sts.
Bond may not have a martini budget, but if you do Continental is shaking up $4 cocktails throughout the month of November. The special menu features drinks made with local spirits, such as the Philly Vesper (Bluecoat Gin, Penn 1681 Vodka, Lillet and orange).

Hop Sing Laundromat
1029 Race St.
On most days, we're not sure we're charmed by Hop Sing's little circus, which includes ringing the unmarked doorbell, explaining how you found out about them and an awkward lobby briefing. But if you want to play a cocktail-swilling spy this weekend, this is your place.

XIX
200 S. Broad St.
There are plenty of plush hotel bars to channel Bond in. But when it comes to action sequence potential, we're going with XIX, which is perched on the 19th floor of the Bellevue and full of likely assassins in very expensive heels.

Time to take away the Trump card

RE: "S— MY REAL ESTATE DEVELOPER SAYS" (METRO, OCT. 8) The biggest question I have in reference to "Donald Trump The Reality Show Star" is: Why? Why are we giving him so much media attention? Seriously, why do we have to hear about his feelings in regards to the election. Who cares? He is not relevant in any fashion other than his views on how to become rich. Sit down Donald Trump, you are becoming intolerable!

BRENDA FORD-KELLY, VIA E-MAIL

Put the burner on to heat up talks on global warming

There's more discussion of global warming since Sandy. But still, no one is really serious about it. The right pretends it doesn't exist. The left pretends we can just cut CO2 emissions and it will be OK. Cutting emissions just means making it worse more slowly. That still means making it worse. We need to actively remove carbon from the atmosphere, intervene in weather patterns or both.

Climate change isn't a punishment. The atmosphere doesn't distinguish between carbon emitted to meet the needs of righteous hardworking people and by greedy plutocrats.

DAN WYLIE-SEARS, VIA E-MAIL

Need overrides politics in election

Individuals have said that the past election was a sign of shifting values or shifting ideas of who we are as a nation — some have even suggested that it reflect some racial ideas — but no information backs these ideas up. Many of us are suffering; times are hard and we wanted someone who could relate to us. We needed someone who won't just think of think of business but a human need, even if we may or may not agree with his approach.

Shifting views is wishful thinking and its harder to come by than most think. Racial ideas are harder to change than most would like. But the key to this election wasn't ideas, it wasn't a mandate. It was individuals who need someone who can relate to them — so in the end, the choice was made one way or the other.

Forget the past — let's not repeat it

Most of the analysis of the election I've seen is that the staunch conservatives need to admit the world is changing. Seeing the overseas reactions I can only agree 100 percent.

The old days of church ladies dictating our morals are gone. The days of homophobia, illegal abortions and barefoot and pregnant women in the kitchen are gone. The days that people listen to hatemongers like Limbaugh and Savage are going, but it will take time and education.

The days that freedom is only for the people who "toe the moral line" are gone.

Hopefully, the days that the greedy run the show will be gone someday.

This election taught everyone a lesson, just as Hurricane Sandy taught me that I complain too much with two loaves of bread under my arm when people are losing their entire lives.

ROBERT C. YUKNAVECH, VIA E-MAIL

Horoscope

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. If at all possible, keep your financial affairs to yourself — and by the same token, keep your nose out of those of others.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. If someone for whom you're doing a job gives you specific instructions, don't deviate from them without checking with that person first. If you do, serious complications could result.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. Keep your opinions and/or suggestions to yourself regarding a matter in which you're not directly involved. Even if the receiving party is a close pal, your input won't be welcomed.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. If you spot shenanigans perpetrated by someone who does not operate out in the open, don't let him or her know you're hip. This way, you'll have the advantage of surprise.

♓ Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. Try not to do anything that could further antagonize an already reluctant ally. Their support could be crucial.

♈ Aries March 21-April 19. If you need to have something serviced, check your sources as to who would do the better job. If you don't, you'll be leaving it up to chance as to what kind of result you can expect.

♉ Taurus April 20-May 20. Being far too possessive of someone with whom you're emotionally involved could jeopardize the relationship. Loving the person is one thing, smothering him or her is another.

♊ Gemini May 21-June 20. Have some consideration for your mate's point of view regarding a vital family issue. If you are oblivious to what he or she thinks, it could trigger a whopper of an argument.

♋ Cancer June 21-July 22. When working on a task that requires the use of tools, do not allow yourself to be rushed beyond what is a reasonable, safe pace.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. Attempt to manage your financial resources with the care of a hard-nosed banker. If instead you are careless or extravagant, you can expect to suffer some financial inconveniences.

♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. Whether you're aware of it or not, the example you set will be the one everybody follows. If you're nasty or difficult to deal with, expect others to be so as well. Bask in your deserved popularity.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. Should a person with whom you have dealings begin to anger you, keep it to yourself. You'd only make things worse if you react with shouts or harsh words. BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Is defense worse without Castillo? Don't panic yet

Giving up more points under Bowles Secondary not tackling correctly Eagles trying to get a win

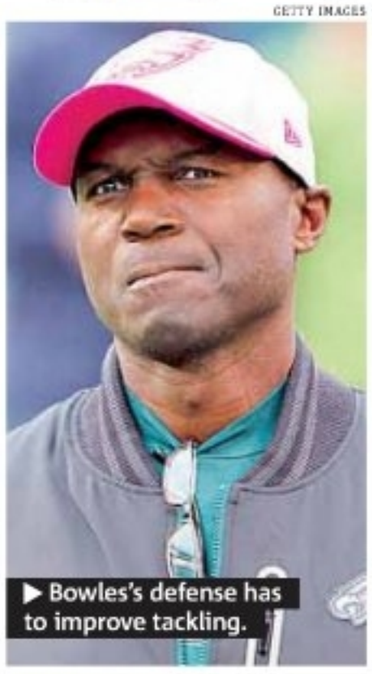
When Todd Bowles replaced Juan Castillo as defensive coordinator, the thought was that the unit would improve. Improve drastically, too.

Well, it's only a two-game sample set, but that hasn't been the case. Bowles' unit is allowing 29 points per game since taking over. Castillo's defense was giving up 20.8 points. Bowles dismissed the notion that a transition period is to be expected.

"No, I don't think so," Bowles said. "They're going to tackle, no matter what. They've got on the pads and they've got on the uniform. I'm the coach and I've been the coach before with the change and the adjustment. We just have to play. We don't have any excuses."

Nnamdi Asomugha, who seemed to incite the switch with his comments, has looked even more out of sorts since Bowles took over. And Dominique Rodgers-Cromartie arguably had his worst game of the season against Atlanta. Those are not good trends for Bowles, who had served as secondary coach.

GETTY IMAGES



▶ Bowles's defense has to improve tackling.

"It was more of the tackling and more of getting up," Bowles said. "It wasn't the completions; it was the runs after the catch that were getting us in the Atlanta ballgame. In this last ballgame, we've got to make plays."

It won't get any easier Sunday, when the Eagles host the NFL's third-best passing offense. Tony Romo and the Cowboys are averaging 299.1 yards through the air.

Numbers aside, the defense just needs a win. One victory may be the catalyst to save this fading season.

"Our number one priority is to win a game, then once we get a win, then we can worry about what to do after that," said Cullen Jenkins.

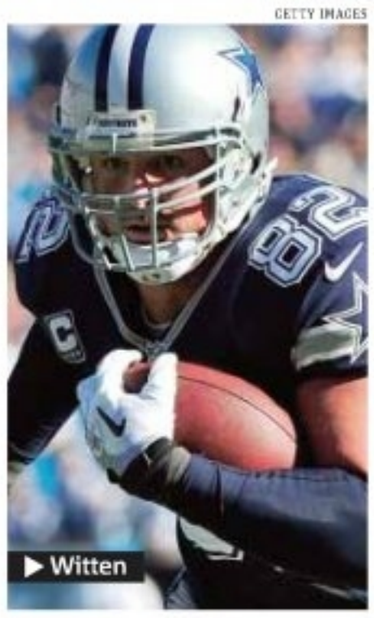
What to watch: Eagles-Cowboys

This is the last chance (well, not mathematically) for the Eagles to save the season and contend for the NFC East title. Here's what to look for when the Eagles host the Cowboys Sunday (4:15 p.m., FOX) at Lincoln Financial Field:

1 KEEPING EVERYONE IN LINE. The Eagles are down to one projected starter along the O-line, Evan Mathis. After surrendering seven sacks last week — and losing Todd Herremans — everyone is under the microscope. They've had less than a week to practice together, not a good sign for a unit that was struggling before Herremans went down. The Eagles should lose the empty-back sets and keep tight ends in to block … they should, but will they?

GETTY IMAGES



2 YOU MUST RESPECT THIS HOUSE. Todd Bowles' defense, especially the secondary, has been shredded over the past two weeks (246 yards vs. ATL, 231 yards vs. NO), with a lot of that the direct result of sloppy tackling. A few Eagles admitted that opponents think they're soft and "don't want to hit nobody." That should inspire them, right?

3 DON'T FORGET ABOUT WITTEN. Dez Bryant (when he feels like running routes) might be the most explosive weapon the Cowboys have, but when the game tightens up Tony Romo will be looking for his beefy tight end. Jason Witten has averaged 63.4 yards and scored seven TDs in 17 career games vs. Philly. This could be the perfect assignment for Mychal Kendricks to redeem himself.

USED CARS as low as $999 FRED BEANS REPEATS HISTORIC USED CAR SALE

Limerick, PA – Fred Beans, CEO and Founder of the Fred Beans Family of Dealerships located in Limerick PA, has announced a ONE DAY SALE on Saturday, November 10th at 9:00AM, where pre-owned vehicles will be sold for as low as $999. This sale is being held due to overwhelming public demand.

Cars will be clearly marked, so come early for the best selection. This is a ONE DAY ONLY sale designed to get the local community driving again.

Fred Beans' pre-owned inventory levels need to be reduced to make room for shipments of new models arriving daily. As a result, all 3 Fred Beans Limerick locations are selling these overstocked pre-owned vehicles to the public at drastic discounts in an attempt to clear excess inventory.

In addition to this huge variety of pre-owned vehicles, the Fred Beans Family of Dealerships in Limerick features new Chevrolet, Nissan and Kia vehicles.

Fred Beans believes reviving the economy starts at home, and changing things locally will lead to changing things nationally.

In addition to the Fred Beans Family of Dealerships' extra inventory, additional vehicles have been acquired at incredible prices from various banks, repossession companies, auto auctions, credit unions, lease companies, and rental companies for this sale.

The sale will make pre-owned vehicles available for as low as $999, prices not normally offered to the general public. According to Fred Beans, "We want to give our customers a reason to believe in the local economy again. Someone has to look out for their best interests."

Customers are encouraged to arrive and register by 8:15AM to inspect the entire inventory and find the car that is right for them. Every vehicle will be cleaned, detailed, and fully prepared for instant delivery. On the evening of November 9th after close of business, Mr. Beans and his team will mark the special sale price on each and every vehicle.

Because Fred Beans' customers are feeling the credit crunch right now, the Fred Beans Automotive Group has given the dealerships' financing managers the resources necessary to get most customers' credit approved on the spot.

The Fred Beans Family of Dealerships has $10,000,000 in lending power, the result of over 50 years of strong relationships with the area's leading lenders. This means that customers with "less than perfect" credit history can have their credit approved and drive a quality pre-owned car, truck, or SUV home by lunchtime on Saturday.

Even if a customer's credit report shows a bankruptcy, divorce, tax lien, slow payment history, missed payment, or repossession, or if a customer is a first time buyer, Fred Beans may get them approved.

This special ONE DAY ONLY sale will be held at all 3 Fred Beans Limerick locations this Saturday, November 10th, at 9:00AM.

Pre-owned vehicles will be sold for as low as $999. Customers are encouraged to arrive and register by 8:15AM for the start of inspection. Incredible sale prices, starting as low as $999, will be posted no later than 8:00AM. All vehicles will be sold on a first come, first serve basis. The Fred Beans Family of Dealerships is expecting a high volume of customers for this sale, so be sure to reserve your spot early.

Customers wishing to trade in a vehicle are asked to bring their title or payment book for immediate delivery. Fred Beans will even pay off your trade-in in full, no matter how much you still owe on it.

Most of these surplus pre-owned vehicles will get sent directly to auto auctions for liquidation. So, if anyone has been thinking about purchasing a good, clean, dependable pre-owned car, truck, van or sport utility vehicle, do not miss this special ONE DAY ONLY sale.

Courtesy transportation available from all local airports, train stations and bus depots.

'Nova learned valuable lesson after last season

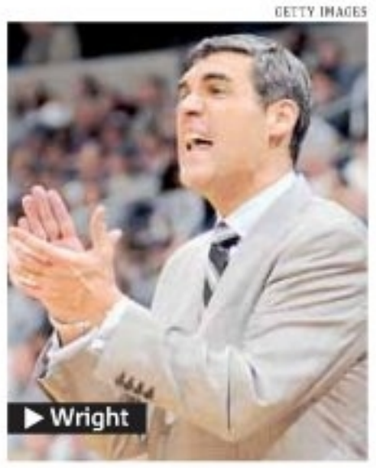
Jay Wright saw it coming long before anyone. Saw that Villanova, less than three years removed from going to the Final Four, less than two seasons after being ranked No. 2 in the country at mid-season, was about to hit hard times.

"I saw it coming the year before," said Wright, whose 2012 Wildcats open the season Friday night vs. Division II District of Columbia. "Not to the extent we struggled, which was because of injuries. Even without them, I think we could've been only a little better."

Instead, it turned out worse than anyone could have imagined. After going 30-8, 25-8 and 21-12, the 'Cats tumbled to 13-19. One player who has seen them topple from the heights to the depths is stunned how quickly it can go wrong.

"It's crazy," said fifth-year senior Maurice Sutton, who was red-shirt on that 2009 Final Four team. "It's like cleaning your room and then tearing it up five minutes later. We went away from our game. We didn't take it seriously."

GETTY IMAGES



▶ Wright

ON FRIDAY

District of Columbia at Villanova, 7 p.m.

The road back won't be easy. Wright will blend three returning starters — center Mouphtaou Yarou, forward JayVaughn Pinkston and swingman James Bell — with sophomore guard Darrun Hilliard, Sutton, Wake Forest transfer Tony Chennault and freshman Ryan Arcidiacono. While no one expects them to challenge in a loaded Big East that has Louisville (2) and Syracuse (9) ranked among the elite, he feels they should be improved come March.

"We have a lot of work to do, but I like the direction we're going," said Wright. "I think — I hope — last year was a great learning lesson. As a coach you know it [success is] fragile."

What that adds up to in terms of wins and losses is anyone's guess. But, after last year, anything figures to be an improvement.

- C Mouphtaou Yarou, 6-10, senior (11.3 ppg, 8.2 rpg)
  Our take: Shot-blocking big man from Benin (Africa) still needs to be more assertive on offense
- F JayVaughn Pinkston, 6-6, soph (9.6 ppg, 5.2 rpg)
  Our take: Coming off suspension, showed flashes last year of being a scorer; but recent weight loss should make him more of a factor at both ends
- F James Bell, 6-5, junior (7.0 ppg, 3.8 rpg)
  Our take: Defensive-minded swingman who can also shoot the three; has tendency to be streaky shooter
- G Darrun Hilliard, 6-6 soph (4.8 ppg)
  Our take: Moves into lineup with departure of Maalik Wayns, Dominic Cheek; lanky and athletic; needs to develop offensive game
- G Ryan Arcidiacono, 6-3 freshman (no stats)
  Our take: Local product who missed senior season after averaging 20.4, 5.0 assists as junior at Neshaminy High; should add needed long-distance shooter
- Bench players:

Tony Chennault: Will come off bench for now, after starting every game last two seasons at Wake Forest
Maurice Sutton: Improved from liability on court to solid shot-blocker, with a nice touch around the basket
Daniel Ochefu: Another local kid with high ceiling; figures to spell Yarou in the paint as he learns the ropes
